DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to because reference characters "16" and "10" are both pointing to the same element, but designated with different names. Correction is required.
2. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the circuitry disposed on the layer of dielectric material as read in Claims 18-20, must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Specification

3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: It is more oriented to the method of making the printed circuit board than to the instant claimed invention. Appropriate correction is required.
4. The abstract is objected to because of the following informalities: It is more oriented to the method of making the printed circuit board than to the instant claimed invention. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 11, 14, 17 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Boggs US Patent No. 4,935,584.

Regarding claim 11, Boggs teaches a printed wiring board comprising a dielectric substrate (Reference Number 10), at least one filled (Reference number 50) plated through hole (Reference Number 18), and circuitry (Reference Number 16b) on said dielectric substrate connecting to said plated through hole, said circuitry having an aspect ratio greater than about 1 (See Figure 1).

Regarding claim 14, Boggs teaches that said circuitry includes a pad (Reference number 14 a) on each of said filled plated through holes.

Regarding claim 17, Boggs teaches a layer of dielectric material (Reference Number 20) disposed on said dielectric substrate and overlying said circuitry on said dielectric substrate, said layer of dielectric material having at least one via (Reference Number 26a) formed therein.

Regarding claim 20, Boggs teaches circuitry disposed on said layer of dielectric material (Reference number 24a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 9,10,12,13,15,16,18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Boggs US Patent No. 4,935,584.

Regarding claims 9 and 10, Boggs teaches a printed wiring board comprising a dielectric substrate (Reference Number 10), at least one filled (Reference number 50) plated through hole (Reference Number 18), and circuitry (Reference Number 16b) on said dielectric substrate connecting to said plated through hole. Boggs discloses the claimed invention except for said circuitry having a line width approximately equal to or less than the diameter of said filled plated through hole, or said circuitry having an aspect ratio greater than about 0.5. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to said circuitry having a line width approximately equal to or less than the diameter of said filled plated through hole or said circuitry having an aspect ratio greater than about 0.5, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or working ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

Regarding claims 12 and 13, Boggs teaches that said circuitry includes a pad (Reference number 14 a) on each of said filled plated through holes.

Regarding claims 15 and 16, Boggs teaches a layer of dielectric material (Reference Number 20) disposed on said dielectric substrate and overlying said circuitry on said dielectric substrate, said layer of dielectric material having at least one via (Reference Number 26a) formed therein.

Regarding claims 18 and 19, Boggs teaches circuitry disposed on said layer of dielectric material (Reference number 24a).

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following references have some of the elements of the instant claimed invention: Lauffer et al. US Patent No. 6204456 B1, Kumagai et al. US Patent No. 4942079, Lan et al. US Patent No. 5962815, and Chong et al. US Patent No. 5699613.
